SCOTT LUNDT, CMAA, CBI

Scott Lundt, CMAA, CBI, MSFE is Co-Owner of LED Trail, a clean energy solutions firm delivering turnkey infrastructure for EV charging, energy storage, and commercial & industrial LED lighting. With a background in mergers & acquisitions, finance, and economics, he brings a strategic lens to deploying scalable, impact-driven technologies across both public and private sectors.

Alongside partner Rahsaan Freeman, Scott has positioned LED Trail as a trusted integrator for municipalities, ports, and institutions pursuing ambitious sustainability and ESG goals. He leads efforts to structure public-private partnerships, navigate procurement, and align projects with clean energy incentives.

LED Trail has earned local and national recognition through its selection to the 2025 Port of Seattle Accelerator Cohort, Nike's 2022 Diverse Supplier Academy, and Stellantis' 2023 National Black Supplier Development Program – each focused on helping diverse-owned businesses grow, scale, and lead in clean infrastructure sectors.

Scott also serves on the City of Tacoma's Equity in Contracting Advisory Committee, advocating for inclusive procurement practices. He holds credentials as a Certified M&A Advisor (CMAA), Certified Business Intermediary (CBI), and a Master's in Finance & Economics – equipping him with the cross-disciplinary expertise to drive both impact and profitability in the clean energy transition.
